RFD's Friends Tempt Him To Use Radio To Bring Senate To "Heel"

WASHINGTON — Some of the inner council coterie have been whispering into the President's ear that he ought to crack down on the Senate. What they would like to see him do is go before his radio audience some night and make a stirring appeal to the public to back him up in a demand that the chamber put an end to its rampaging and come to heel.

The advice is definitely attractive.

The rebuff on the World Court, the three weeks of wrangling in the Appropriations Committee over the work-relief bill, and the ominous threats against the Administration's banking measure have not only irritated the President but made him uneasy about the entire Congressional situation.

House leaders have warned him that unless something was done to curb the Senate there was serious danger that the spirit of revolt would spread to the House.

But attractive as the suggestion is, it has several drawbacks.

Chief among them is the fact that Roosevelt's Senate advisers are strongly against it. Wilson's tragic experience in trying to tame the chamber is still a fresh memory in their minds.

Furthermore, as Senate leaders have emphasized at the White House, Democrats not Republicans are causing all the trouble.

So for the time being they are counselling patience and soft treading.

Tough Break

Mrs. Caroline O'Day meant well, but she certainly wreaked havoc with certain plans of her House colleagues.

What happened was this:

About 60 rookie Congressmen, both Democrats and Republicans, got together to talk over plans for a get-acquainted stag party. But in sending out a general call for all new-comers to attend the preliminary meeting, the boys overlooked the fact that among their number was one woman—the wealthy, socialite member-at-large from New York, Mrs. O'Day.

Totally unaware of the real purpose of the gathering, Mrs. O'Day put in her appearance. Through the ranks of the assembled males spread confusion and consternation.

Furthermore Mrs. O'Day took charge of the proceedings.

She explained how bewildering she was finding legislative procedure and what a good idea it would be if a parliamentary authority were invited to give them a talk.

When the suggestion was courteously applauded Mrs. O'Day responded by inviting all present to her Georgetown home—which she shares with Labor Secretary Perkins—for an evening of instruction and discussion.

There was nothing to do, of course, but accept, but some of the boys are still determined to hold that stag party.

Brickbats Politics

There is method in Huey Long's madness.

His resolution for an investigation of Jim Farley is one of the most astute moves he has ever made.

Huey knows that the chances of the inquiry being authorized are remote. But he also knows that with the public in general and Congress in particular there is no one in the Administration as personally unpopular as the big, glowering Postmaster General.

Farley's relentless patronage raiding, the deterioration of his postal service have created foes by the thousand.

This, the Kingfish, one of the brash and shrewdest political strategists in the business—proposes using to his own advantage.

His resolution may get nowhere, but it is enabling him to heave brickbats at Farley's bald dome and indirectly at the man in the White House.

LIBERAL BILLS FLOOD SENATE AFTER RULING

Expansion Of Currency, New Bonus Measure To Be Introduced

MAJOR FIGHTS SEEN

Relief Bill Again In Center Of Floor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — The Supreme court's decision in the gold cases served as a signal in the senate today for the release of a flood of liberal legislation, touching public works, currency, silver, taxes, labor and the bonus.

While the decision itself did not inspire the legislation, the action of the high court in holding the gold laws constitutional encouraged the authors of other liberal bills. It also cleared the atmosphere on Capitol Hill.

New Bonus Measure

Among the bills in course of introduction were:

1. A new bonus bill, by Senator Tydings (D) of Maryland, proposing new cash payments of adjusted compensation service certificates.
2. A new labor disputes bill, by Senator Wagner (D) of New York, outlawing company unions and giving the national labor relations board real power to settle industrial controversies.
3. A bill by Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana, proposing a graduated scale of federal taxes on the net incomes of corporations in excess of $3,000,000 a year. The maximum tax would be 25 percent of all net income above $50,000,000 a year.
4. An amendment to the pending work relief bill, by Senator La Follette (R) of Wisconsin, doubling the $4,000,000,000 appropriation for public works.
5. An amendment to the same bill by Senator Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, proposing mandatory expansion of the currency through issuance of silver certificates, with mandatory silver purchases.
6. An amendment to that bill by Wheeler, proposing to pay for the $4,000,000,000 work relief through issuance of U. S. treasury notes.

Add To Troubles

The La Follette, Thomas and Wheeler amendments only added

SIX CONVICTS FLEE TEXAS PRISON FARM

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 19 — A posse of officers and guards today trailed six long term convicts who disarmed a guard and escaped from the Harlem state prison farm in a stolen automobile. One of the fugitives is a murderer.

Capt. A. Owens, prison farm manager, was in charge of the search.

The prisoners overpowered Guard R. A. Jones near the Brazos river several miles from the farm's administration building. They took Jones' pistol and ran to a road where they stopped and commandeered an automobile in which they drove north.

The six who escaped were Walker Sarrett, serving 50 year term for murder; Ed Vanden, 99 year robbery term; Nonnie Dobbs, 13 year arson term; Raymond Henderson, S. B. Vowell and Leroy Eggleston.

LOCAL MERCHANT ON SAME JOB 50 YEARS

Fifty years ago this month, in February, 1885, a 12-year-old boy walked into the store of J. Miller & Son, W. Main-st., Circleville, and asked for a job. He got it. He is still on the job, in the same business, in the same business room—and he owns the business.

Meet Alvin E. Fissell, known to a host of intimate friends as "Kitty," the 12-year-old boy now 62—and still young—proprietor of Caddy Miller's Hat Shop, born in Circleville, and has spent 50 years behind the counter in the same mercantile establishment.

The J. Miller & Son store is one of Circleville's oldest business firms. It was established in 1838,

RIVER PROJECT "CONSIDERED"

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — "Favorable consideration will be given by President Roosevelt to the proposed Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy district project, according to dispatches received here today following the conference in Washington between the president and Gov. Martin L. Davey.

The dispatches also quoted Davey as stating that the president was favorably impressed with the proposal that Ohio's share of the proposed $4,800,000,000 work relief fund be spent on new state institutions and modernization of old ones, highway beautification, road construction and conservancy projects.

"What Makes a Perfect Dinner the Hostess of Both Declares Mrs. Thurn Who Will Be In of Herald's Cooking School

Most people of taste would rather have a plain bread pudding at an attractive table served by a charming hostess, than the most delicious Baked Alaska served by an ungracious or careless housekeeper. That is only one of the interesting things Mrs. George O. Thurn believes and emphasizes about cooking and homemaking. She knows that today, more than ever before, being a homemaker is an important career for it calls for skill, charm, patience and a good bit of brain work.

STERILIZATION LAW HEARINGS BOOKED

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — The sterilization bill, which is expected to find sharp divisions of legislative opinion, will be considered at public hearing before the senate health committee probably tomorrow night, Sen. Maurice W. Lipsche (D) of Youngstown, chairman of the committee, announced today.

The measure, introduced by Sen. V. D. Emmons (R) of Akron, would provide for sterilization of inmates of feeble minded and epileptic institutions. It was scheduled for preliminary hearing last night but there were no opponents present and the sponsor was not at the session.

A sharp division of opinion in medical and religious circles is expected to be brought out at the hearings.

RAMBO JAILED FOR NEXT GRAND JURY

Harold Rambo, 18, was held in the County jail today under $200 bond after a hearing before Mayor W. B. Cady for uttering menacing threats.

The charge was filed by Sheriff Lowery who claimed Rambo had threatened to burn his house and barn.

Allen Trego, this city, was released after he paid costs of a $25 and costs fine leveled against him by Squire H. O. Eveland. The fine was suspended. Trego was arrested for intoxication.

Cecil Karshner, arrested for intoxication, was released from the county jail Tuesday after serving his fine.

LAMSON IS READY TO OPEN DEFENSE

SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 19 — David A. Lamson today cast the die in his second trial for the "bathtub murder" of his dark-eyed young wife Allene in their Stanford campus bungalow the morning of a sunny Memorial day in 1933.

The 34-year-old Stanford publishing house sales manager decided that on one theory, and one alone as contrasted to his first hearing, he would stake his fate on the theory the slender Allene fractured her skull in an accidental fall in the bathtub while he was in the garden.

FLIGHT DELAYED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19 — Wiley Post today had postponed his proposed stratosphere flight from Los Angeles to New York while awaiting arrival of a new propeller, better suited to the needs of high altitudes.

CORN AND HOG SIGN-UP OPENS ON WEDNESDAY

Meetings Scheduled In All Townships Starting at 9 O'Clock

ALL ARE ELIGIBLE

Township Houses, Schools Meeting Places

Actual sign-up of 1935 corn-hog contracts in Pickaway-co will begin Wednesday with meetings planned in each township. The meetings will be conducted from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. with the various township committees in charge of the sign-up.

If it is impossible for farmers to attend the Wednesday meeting one of the local committeemen will be on hand daily thereafter until Thursday, Feb. 28.

Sign-up of all applications must be done in the individual townships as all records will be in the hands of the township committee and will not be available in the Farm Bureau office.

Boggs Is Chairman

John G. Boggs, W. Union-st., is chairman of the county corn-hog committee retaining the position from last year. When the sign-up is completed an organization meeting will be held.

Practically all producers of corn and hogs, whether or not they took part in the 1934 program, are eligible to sign a 1935 adjustment contract, according to F. K. Blair, county agricultural agent.

Those eligible to sign include persons owning and operating their own farms, and tenants operating farms on a cash rent or fixed share agreement. In the case of the producer who operates a farm on a cash rent or fixed share agreement, the contract is signed by both the tenant and the landlord.

Eligibility in all cases will be determined by the county allotment committee, which acts in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment administration and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture. The allotment committee will determine whether the applicant for a 1935

FISHER IRES MR. REILLY

"One of Us Must Get Out of Case," Chief of Defense Counsel Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby, declared today that either he or C. Lloyd Fisher, Flemington attorney, and confident of the former Bronx carpenter, must get out of the famous case.

When informed that Fisher had criticized Reilly's defense of Hauptmann after a conference with the prisoner in the death house at Trenton state penitentiary yesterday, Reilly said:

"Either Fisher gets out of this case, or I get out. I am sick and tired of all this fooling around. I am tired of Fisher's double crossing."

"I saw Mrs. Hauptmann a few hours ago and I know she's with me. But I want a showdown. Let Anna Hauptmann and Bruno visit each other without any lawyers and then let's see who will stay in this case and who will get out."

Reilly said his plan to delay the appeal of Hauptmann's conviction which evoked Fisher's outburst yesterday was based on the gentlemanly practice of law and did not jeopardize Hauptmann's interests whatever.

2 FARMERS KILLED

DELAWARE, Feb. 19 — Two farmers were dead and a third was seriously injured today after a small coupe automobile in which they were riding crashed into the rear of a heavy freight truck near Leonardsburg, north of Delaware.

The dead are Myron H. Barber, 52, of Ashley, a brother of B. B. Barber, Delaware-co's health commissioner, and Charles Bensley, 53, of Westfield, driver of the automobile.

TRACTION TRAFFIC DISRUPTED TODAY

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — Street car and interurban traffic was disrupted for nearly an hour here today because of a breakdown in a generating booster machine at the power plant.

Street cars were lined up for blocks, completely stalled, in the downtown area and the power was so weakened in other districts that the cars could creep only at a snail's pace.

Caught in the jam were incoming interurbans and hundreds of office workers were late reporting at their desks.

CADY AND LEIST ATTEND MEETING

Mayor W. B. Cady and Solicitor Carl Leist did attend the meeting of council Monday morning contrary to the impression left in the article concerning the possible purchase of the water works.

The paragraph which left the misunderstanding said "All members of council except C. O. Leist, Mayor W. B. Cady and Solicitor Carl Leist attended the meeting."

Neither Cady nor Leist are members of council. Just to get everyone right, however, they were at the meeting.

CHIEF WARNER TO RETIRE ON FRIDAY, MAR. 1

Pension Board Acts On Application In Meeting Monday Evening

MCCRADY FAVORED

Examination May Not Be Ordered By Cady

Retirement of William H. Warner as chief of the police department will become effective March 1, it was announced today after the police pension board met Monday evening. Members of the board are Harry Moore and G. I. Nickerson, laymen; W. M. Reid and J. H. Helwagen, councilmen, and William McCrady and Raymond Smith, policemen.

Chief Warner's application for retirement was read and acted upon.

He will follow Officer Thomas McManamy to the pension list. The fire department has retired John S. Baer.

Served 19 Years

Chief Warner, who is 78 years of age, has served 19 years all told on the police force. He has been chief for the past 10 years.

Who his successor will be is not yet certain. It has been reported from persons close to the city administration that Mayor W. B. Cady is ready to appoint Officer William McCrady as chief of police. The officer could be named without a civil service examination being called since the grade he received for chief at the last examination will stand until March 9.

If McCrady becomes chief of police it is believed Fred Fitzpatrick will be moved to day duty with an examination to be called to fill an eligible list for the remaining night job. Other members of the force are Raymond Smith and Alva Shasteen, both night officers.

McCrady from the standpoint of seniority is entitled to a fling as chief.

Examination Needed

If Mayor Cady does not appoint McCrady an examination will be conducted as soon as possible by the civil service commission to fill the eligible list. After grades have been announced the mayor will make his selection.

It is believed doubtful, however, that an examination will be called.

The retirement salary of police and fire departments is $50 monthly, one half of what Chief Warner is now receiving.

ACTOR BADLY HURT

LONDON, Feb. 19 — Richard Bennett, American actor, was in a critical condition at a private home in Hertfordshire today as a result of a fall from a horse.

Bennett suffered several fractured ribs and a broken collarbone when his mount fell on him. It was understood one broken rib lacerated a lung.

Imminent London physicians are in attendance. One of his three daughters, Barbara, is aboard the Berengaria rushing to his bedside.

SALES TAX RULINGS

The sales tax section of the State Tax Commission has issued a number of rulings affecting various lines of business. Those of interest to Pickaway county residents will be published in this column at intervals.

EMPLOYER TO EMPLOYEES

When an employer regularly sells tangible personal property to employees for use or consumption, such sales are subject to the tax. This ruling applies to all sales of tangible personal property by the employer either in the form of meals sold by a company cafeteria, or in the form of articles sold from an employer's stock of merchandise, and is immaterial that such sales are a small fraction of the employer's total sales of tangible personal property or that sales ordinarily are made at retail to employees of the employer only and not to the general public.

DRY CLEANERS AND LAUNDRIES

The charges of dry cleaners and laundries which render services are not subject to the tax imposed by Section 2 of Amended House Bill No. 134. In those cases where a dry cleaner, or a laundry, mends or repairs wearing apparel, linens and similar articles, the charge collected is a charge for service and is not subject to the tax imposed by Section 2 of Amended House Bill No. 134. In all such cases the dry cleaner or laundry is the consumer of the materials purchased, which are to be used in mending or repairing. The vendor making sales of such materials as thread, buttons, yarn, sewing material and similar items used in mending and repairing by a dry cleaner or laundry must collect the tax.

MERCHANDISE CARDS

A merchandise card for the purpose of Amended House Bill No. 134 shall include what is ordinarily called a merchandise ticket or coupon book. It is a card which entitles the purchaser to a specified amount of merchandise upon presentation thereof. It will be permissible for merchants to sell such merchandise card and the tax will be collected upon the selling price thereof at the time of the sale of the card. When the card is subsequently exchanged for merchandise, the tax imposed by Section 2 of Amended House Bill No. 134 will not apply to such exchange, the tax having been paid when the sale of the card was consummated.

For the purpose of the act, a transfer slip is a special coupon, or transfer check, furnished by the vendor and given to a customer in cases where the tax paid upon a transaction does not use up the entire bracket. It is a system whereby a customer, making a taxable 10-cent purchase and paying the one-cent tax, would receive from the vendor a certificate indicating that the customer could purchase 30 cents more in merchandise without the payment of the additional tax, and the use of them will not be permitted in the state of Ohio.

SPECIAL RULING NO. 11

Sales of Automobile Parts and Accessories:

Sales of all tangible personal property to purchasers for use either separately, or in connection with automobile repair work, such as automobile parts, automobile accessories, tires, batteries, and the like, are taxable within the meaning of the act.

Receipts from labor and services performed in connection with such repair work or installation are not subject to the tax. The charge for such labor and services should be segregated and itemized separately from the charge for tangible personal property. Failure to so segregate will subject the total charge to payment of the tax.

COMMISSION BASIS

A person who does not have stock of merchandise from which orders are filled, selling on a commission basis for a vendor who has a fixed place of business, is not required to purchase a vendor's license, as he is in fact the agent of the vendor with a fixed place of business. Persons selling on a straight commission basis, who sell from a stock of goods which they carry with them are vendors and will be required to procure a vendor's license and collect the tax in the manner prescribed in Section 3 of the bill.

MUSICAL PROGRAM GIVEN AT MONDAY CLUB MEETING

A musical program in charge of the music division was presented at the Monday club meeting last evening.

Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, president, conducted a short business session after which the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Theodore Huston, chairman of the program, which was on the works of the great composer Tchaikowsky.

Mrs. Huston presented Miss Anna Florence, who read a paper on "The Life of Tchaikowsky," which was followed by several numbers by the composer.

The Monday club chorus sang "Come, Ye Maidens" from his opera Eugene Onegue, and also "Dawn."

Three solo numbers were given. "Why," and "None but the Lonely Know" were sung by Mrs. James Moffitt and Mrs. Clark Will sang "Disappointment."

This was followed by trio selections by Mrs. Will, Mrs. Moffitt and Mrs. Clark. Their numbers included "Cradle Song" and "Legende."

Mrs. Tom Renick cleverly told the story of Tchaikowsky's symphony, "Ratner's Tale" and the following piano duets from the symphony concluded the entertainment.

"Trepak" and "The Dance of the Orange Tarts" by Mrs. Huston and Miss Gretchen Moeller; and "March" and "Flower Waltz" by Mrs. Huston and Miss Abbe Mills Clarke.

WASHINGTON P. T. A. ENJOYS FOUNDER'S DAY PROGRAM

Eighty members and guests of the Washington P. T. A. Parent-Teacher association gathered for a Founders' Day program at the school Monday evening.

Mrs. Cliff Reichelderfer, president, conducted a short business meeting followed by the program which was opened with a vocal solo, "The Old Spinning Wheel," by Billy Wooding.

A Founder's Day play was then presented with the following taking part: Mrs. C. H. Palm, Mrs. Merle Bowman, Mrs. Russell Palm, Mrs. Howard Huston, Mrs. Ray Bowman, Miss Nellie Kuhn, Miss Edith Spangler, Miss Agnes Frazier and Miss Cleo Bowman.

Several selections were sung by a girls' chorus comprised of Harriett Hanley, Fern Richards, Fietta Sayre, Mary Katherine Bowman, Hazel Matz and Esther Mae Mace.

Mrs. Clay Hitler was in charge of the family number which followed the songs. It was a play entitled, "Aunt Jane Visits School," in which Mr. and Mrs. Hitler, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huston and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Betz were characters.

The concluding number was a violin solo by Olive Hartley, Miss Celina Adams was accompanist for all the musical numbers.

During the social hour which followed the entertainment a lunch was served by the losing team of a recent membership contest. Mrs. Merle Bowman was captain of the team and Mrs. Clay Hitler was chairman of the committee in charge of the serving.

which fill our refrigerators and pantries, and which make the meals our families love and help full discussions on how to be a good hostess as well as a good cook.

Mrs. Thurn urged this paper to invite all women of Circleville and community to the Cooking school and to repeat as often as possible this week, that every session of the Cooking school will be full of news, good cookery, and fine recipes demonstrated for the first time in Circleville.

Besides the food part of the program, she will talk about new home equipment and labor saving devices of all kinds, which are now an established part of American homemaking. "We can cook, wash, iron, all in the time our grandmothers set the bread to rise," said Mrs. Thurn. "There are new appliances and equipment of every description, electrical and non-electrical, which I have been using in the past few months and which I shall have in my kitchen next week at Memorial hall."

"Tell your readers to plan their housework so that they may come every day. I want every woman there—not just because I have so much to tell her and show her, but because events in homemaking are coming fast and thick in the past months and every woman owes it to herself to keep up with the parade. I hope the women of Circleville will come out in force."

Merchants to Participate

Not only will the lecturer and her assistants give out free recipes, at each session, but merchants who have been so eager to share in the big Cooking school.

want to give things away. There will be free filled market baskets for some of the many women who will attend, and gifts of more weighty value to others, at the end of the week's session. Remember that the School opens Tuesday and is free every day of the four big sessions. Plan to come!

PATTERN 5310

There's no place like home—and if you want to add to its beauty, make this sampler that illustrates this sentiment so beautifully. The colorful garden, the simple cottage, the touch of colored border, make this a fitting decoration for any room. The crosses, all but the lettering, are 8 to the inch. You will get real pleasure in doing this bit of needlework. If you do not wish to frame it, use it on a pillow. It's equally effective that way and quite an accepted use!

In pattern 5310 you will find a sampler pattern of a sampler 12 1/2x14 inches; a color key; material requirements; illustrations of the stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main St., Circleville, O.

PATTERN 9305

"Contrasting colors will be very smart this Spring," says Marian Martin, and proves it with this asymmetrical dress which means one-sided, and is a fascinating attitude for clothes to take. Sleeves point and belt ends are faced with solid color crepe, while the dress itself is made of a small flower-design silk. It is a flatterer, this color symphony for afternoon—lending a slender and youthful line to the most difficult figure the skirt seaming and the graceful jabot being especially slenderizing. A smart pin, ornamental buttons or good looking clips may be used for trim.

Pattern 9305 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 24, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3 1/2-8 yards 39 inch fabric and 5-8 yard contrasting.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

THE GOLD CASE DECISION

THE government won a complete victory in the supreme court's gold case decision.

As anticipated, there was a sharp advance in grain prices immediately following the announcement that the government had won its case.

The way is now cleared for the New Deal program in its entirety.

SOCIAL STABILITY

WITH eyes ever focused on bettering the social system of the world, old age pensions have been provided as one means of accomplishing that end.

If carried out properly and with the general good of the people as the foremost thought, old age pensions and kindred measures should greatly assist in stabilizing society.

Par fetched as it may sound, old age pensions have a direct bearing on the lives of the youths of the day.

Another light that may be cast on the measure, possibly from a less altruistic point of view, is the money that is put into circulation by those few who must use the public pension for the "rainy day" of old age.

There are those who would just as leave cast their lots with state care when they do become infirm as to bind the time of their youth by rigid economy.

Consider this as an example of the higher standards of living, but there are some whose ethics are on this plane and whose personal ambitions rise no higher.

MOGULS OF VICTUALS

A CASUAL glance at a who's who of wealthy men in this country will disclose that their fortunes rest upon the foundations of steel, of oil, of transportation, of industrial enterprise and big business.

Gaston Monier, the "chocolate king," was one of the richest men in France. The recent death of Sir John Ellerman, the shipping magnate, leaves as the richest Englishman one Joseph Bank, who is Great Britain's "flour king," though his name is known to few.

Over there the business "kings" are food merchants, though in England, until recently, ships also brought in wealth. Germany would be nearer to us. The great fortunes there are, or were, in coal, steel and iron—Krupp, Stinnes, Thyssen.

To be sure, American meat packers in their time have managed to find their occupation a rewarding one. The broad foundations of the Rockefeller fortune were laid when petroleum chiefly meant kerosene for lamp and oil stove. Even today the gasoline for cars ranks as a necessity with bread on the table and coat on back.

Nevertheless, the tone in great wealth up to 1929, was set by the industrial kings, in steel, lumber, railroads. Since then the tobacco and chain-store kings have loomed higher, as their rivals in the heavy industries have gone down.

Little Sister

by MARGARET WIDDERMER

CHAPTER 46

HIS VOICE was grave and kind and comforting. In spite of all he had done to her—in spite of his angry words last time she had met him—in spite of the fact that she was nearly sure about now, when he was near and spoke in that gentle, understanding voice, something in her became happy and steady against her will.

"I'm not telling you anything that's news to our friends," she said. "We had the big old house mortgaged. You knew we hadn't money to have servants. We carried it and ourselves by some very sound bonds we had; not many. But and I had $5,000 apiece and Aunt Minnie had $12,000. Some of her money had had to be put back on the house—renewal of mortgage, repairs, new furnace, and so forth—and some, I'm afraid, was frittered away. It's so hard to keep her from ever having any little foolish thing she wants."

"For the last two years I've sold about 40 pigs a year—made some thing under $1,000. Well, Bet and Aunt Minnie gave Addison every penny they had except the house, to sink into this place. We've nothing to live on at all except the dog money and the bit from my bonds. I have no idea how we can pay the interest on the mortgage. It's a big one. And you know what taxes are. But you know all this."

"I knew that you said Addison had taken all your sister's and aunt's ready money," he said. "But when I spoke to your aunt about it, she assured me that there were resources that in your excitement you had forgotten, present and future. And then you said something about their not having taken your share."

"My share? I shall have to turn every penny over to Aunt Minnie, and she'll have to use the capital just for expenses," she said bitterly. "I had exactly what Bet had—$5,000. We had about $15,000 a year between us. You know how far what I have would go. And Addison has no job and no prospects of one. I suppose his father might make him an allowance."

"No prospect of that, I'm afraid," Jerry said. "But I understand about something else. That was why," he said thoughtfully. She knew what he meant, even before he said, "Leila—oh, Leila! Forgive me!" He was not asking forgiveness for anything he had done about this device.

She did not pretend to misunderstand him. "Never mind. That's water under the bridge," she looked down at her hand, with Orton's bright ring on it.

They sat there silent, forgetting all about the thing they had come together to discuss—forgetting everything but each other. In the silence came the creak and rattle of the dredge, the calls of the workmen to each other, cheerful, attenuated by distance; hammering; and a little pause. In the pause a bird called. It might have been one of the birds they had heard together in the woods near Ridgefield, that one afternoon they had had together. That afternoon of spring magic.

He stood up first, breaking the silence. "Leila, I can't tell you a thing. I can't do a thing. I'm tied up. As tight as you are. I can only say that I don't think it will come to losing the house. I'm sure I can get you help there."

A silence fell again. And it came to Leila what he meant; she should have known what it all meant even before he spoke.

He was out here with Red most of the time. He was seen about with Mary Martin. Everyone said they were going to be married—and everyone was right, that was plain now.

The only man anywhere who had money to invest and enough financial freedom to invest it where it could be for years was Robert Martin, that well-rewarded ex-Tammany man. And the only person he would do a thing like this for was his spoiled daughter Mary. It was a clever thing to do, if you wanted to dig in. Robert Martin, with merely a handsome estate in Fernwood Manor, couldn't get his wife in very far, or his daughter. But Robert Martin, the possessor (as he would be, for the poor little scraps of Madison money had been swallowed up long ago) of practically a new Fernwood development, with the votes and the precedents it covered with the balance of power about the bathing beach in his control, would be supreme. After all, you couldn't expect a professional politician to keep his hands off civic control. He and Mrs. Johnston-Heddes would come to some sort of compromise. Addison and Bet would be pawns. If they were not frozen out altogether, they would be lucky.

And Jerry was sufficiently in the middle of it all to have promised from his heights of favoritism as Mary's lover that Aunt Minnie

"And another thing," he said, after I had glanced at his figures, "I don't know how much more of that $3.84 was in the form of taxes that I don't know anything about, but I do know that what I did pay out as enumerated amounts to approximately 16 2-3 percent of the total."

What could I have expected to tell him that he doesn't have any extensive right to this privilege of being taxed, but that thousands of it are in the same predicament, and all we can do about it is to shell out.

And the other day, he tossed over for my inspection a deck of cards that he has carefully kept for 35 years. They were packed in the original box and had never been used. They were labeled "Hart's Square Linen" manufactured by the New York Company, dated Card Co., 43 John St., New York City, the package bearing the date, February 1, 1868. Whether the cards were manufactured at that time is not known. Pasted on the package was a 2-cent revenue stamp.

Grounds for Argument

I met a young bachelor Monday morning who was all "steamed up" about taxes, sales and otherwise, and he gave me some figures on the amount of money he spent last day. He said he made his usual rounds last Sunday, spent about the usual amount of money, but when he did some figuring at the close of the day he checked out a little bit short.

It was he had not realized just how much he was paying for the privilege of spending his money until he jotted down his day's expenses, and here's what he turned over to me:

AT THE GRAND Behind the serious thoughtful face of Lloyd Bacon, who directed Joe E. Brown in "6 Day Bike Race," the first National picture now showing at the Grand Theatre, there is a real sense and appreciation of humor.

This combination of seriousness and a keen sense of comedy has paced Bacon among the most versatile of motion picture directors. Whether comedy, comedy-drama, drama or musical, Bacon is master of the different techniques required. Because of this he is adept at conveying the proper mood at the proper time to the players.

AT THE CLETONA Music lovers have an outstanding treat in store for them with the showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Cletona Theatre of the new, biting Viennese romance, "The Night Is Young," co-starring Ramon Novarro and Evelyn Lane.

The charming songs sung by the stars in this production were written by Oscar Hammerstein II and Sigmund Romberg, who created such outstanding musical hits as "New Moon" and "Desert Song."

Among the song hits in "The Night Is Young" are "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," "Though I Am A Noble Duchess," "There's A Riot In Havana," "Lena, I Love You," "My Old Mare," "Vienna Will Sing," "Wiener Schnitzel" and the title song, "The Night Is Young."

Novarro's singing voice was last heard in "The Cat and the Fiddle," while Miss Lane, the blonde star from London, is famed for "One Heavenly Night," "Mine, Pompadour" and "Evensong."

Washington's Army Doctor Writes of Liquor Effect

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. WASHINGTON'S birthday this year we are reminded of a present problem of our republic by the publication of a book called "A New Deal in Liquor."

by Dr. Vandell Henderson, professor of applied physiology, at Yale.

In this is reprinted an old pamphlet by Dr. Benjamin Rush, published in 1811, entitled, "An Inquiry Into the Effects of Ardent Spirits Upon the Human Body and Mind." So the problem of temperance and prohibition is not new.

Professor Henderson calls Dr. Rush America's wisest counselor on the liquor problem. Benjamin Rush was a man of great importance in his time. A citizen of Philadelphia, he was an enthusiastic patriot, and representative of Pennsylvania in the Continental Congress, and signed the Declaration of Independence. He was physician general in charge of the hospitals in the middle department of Washington's army.

This friend of Washington and founder of the republic, contributed many observations to medical science. None is more valuable than his insistence that alcohol is not any true source of physical or mental stimulant. It is difficult for us to put ourselves in the frame of mind of our ancestors in this matter. They had been trained to believe that a certain amount of alcoholic beverage was absolutely necessary to health. They thought water produced fever and dysentery and, indeed, the water they used was often contaminated with such disease germs.

Two of Benjamin Rush's observations are worth noting: "The love of ardent spirits has sometimes been subdued, by exciting a counter passion in the mind. A citizen of Philadelphia had made many unsuccessful attempts to cure his wife of drunkenness. At length, despairing of her reformation, he purchased a hoghead of rum, and after tapping it, left the key in the door of the room in which it was placed, as if he had forgotten it. His design was to give his wife an opportunity of drinking herself to death. She suspected this to be his motive, in what he had done, and suddenly left off drinking. Resentment here became the antidote to intemperance."

"A violent attack of an acute disease has sometimes destroyed a habit of drinking distilled liquors. I attended a notorious drunkard, in the yellow fever, in the year of 1795, who recovered with the loss of his relish for spirits, which has, I believe, continued ever since."

The last notation is very sound. One of the possible new methods of curing alcoholism is the induction of artificial fever—hyperpyrexia.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendenning can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Intoxication and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

RENEW INQUIRY IN TULSA MURDER

TULSA YOUTH TELLS STORY

Defendant Says He Believes Youth, Named Suicide, Was Really Murdered

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 19.—"Phil Kennamer's story on the witness stand forces me to open a new investigation into the death of Sidney Born Jr.," Prosecutor Holly Anderson of Tulsa-co told International News Service today.

Born, 20-year-old son of a consulting chemist at the University of Tulsa, was found fatally wounded in his automobile one afternoon in Tulsa nine days after John Gorrell was shot to death under almost parallel circumstances last Thanksgiving night.

"As soon as Phil Kennamer's trial for the Gorrell killing is over I will open the new Born investigation," said Anderson. "I have never been fully convinced that Born was a suicide," said Anderson.

Upset By Story
The prosecutor in the Kennamer case was visibly upset by the curly-headed defendant's dramatic statement as he testified yesterday in his own defense.

"I know Sidney Born did not commit suicide. I think he was murdered," young Phil testified.

Other sensational developments in the Born case today were:

1.—Dr. Sidney Born will testify today at the Kennamer trial as a state witness.

2.—Arrest of the son of a Tulsa millionaire in connection with Born's death may be made immediately at the close of the Kennamer trial.

3.—At least two sons of wealthy Tulsa families are being closely shadowed by detectives hired by Dr. Born. They are witnesses in the Kennamer trial.

4.—Dr. Born's special investigator told International News Service "rapid progress" has been made toward a solution of Born's bizarre death.

While the defense in the Kennamer trial had closed after Phil, son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, made a brilliant climax with a calmly-told story of how and why he killed Gorrell, and the state was to start its parade of rebuttal witnesses this morning, interest ran high in the Born case.

Born, the youth who drove Phil to the fatal rendezvous with Gorrell last Thanksgiving night, was shot in his parked automobile a few minutes after he tried to telephone who was then in the Tulsa county jail.

Questions and Answers

Is it possible to make cream from butter? I have seen a gadget that is supposed to do this and would like to know if it is successful.

Perhaps you are referring to the cream homogenizer that is used to add butterfat to milk. By increasing the butterfat content of milk, cream is produced which may be used as coffee cream or for whipping.

The homogenizer breaks the fat up into globules so small that they can be forced through a very tiny opening under pressure and combined with the milk.

Is it difficult to make cream puffs that really puff? I have a recipe that I am planning to use, but I do not understand what makes them puff.

Correct baking temperature has a great influence on the lightness and puffiness of cream puffs. Use bread flour to make the dough of the proper consistency. Bake the cream puffs to start with in a hot oven (450 degrees) until they have been in the oven about 20 minutes, then reduce the heat to 325 degrees for the remaining time of 20 to 40 minutes. Cream puffs do all their puffing in the first period while they are in the oven. The longer time at the lower temperature is required to dry out the lining of the puff and prevents it from being soggy and soaking up the filling.

In using chicken in noodle ring or tongue on rusks, what else should I serve on the plate?

With the tongue on rusks, why not use timbales of spinach garnished with rice egg yolk or cauliflower with cheese sauce? Some-thing crisp as latticed or julienne potatoes may also be added to the plate. For the chicken, broccoli or brussels sprouts with glazed onions would be interesting. Raw carrots, straws and radishes add color. Raw cranberry relish also is popular if you desire to use it.

Recently we were served a light-colored gingerbread with an orange flavor. We were told the recipe was very old, that it was served as early as the Colonial period. Can you send me such a recipe?

This recipe sounds like the description you have supplied:

Martha Washington Gingerbread
1 egg
1/2 C white sugar
1/2 C light molasses
1/2 C shortening
1/2 C light molasses
1/2 C shortening
1/2 C hot water
1/2 C flour
1 tsp cinnamon
1 tsp ginger
1 tsp soda
1/2 tsp salt
1/2 C candied orange peel

Beat the egg; add sugar and molasses. Then melt shortening in hot water and combine with the first mixture. Mix and sift dry ingredients, and combine the liquid and dry ingredients. Fold in candied orange peel cut in thin slices. Bake about 25 minutes at 350 degrees.

THE FAITHFUL DOG

COLOGNE—The story of a dog that could not forget comes from Wassenach. Five years ago a farmer sold the animal to a man some miles away. Now the dog has found its way back to its first master. It saw his daughter while she was on a visit to the town, and followed her back to her home in Wassenach. The farmer was so touched by the dog's devotion that he has now bought it back again.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Angling For Pro

You golfers don't want to be surprised if you learn one of these days that the greens committee of the Pickaway Country Club has signed a professional. We're not putting out his name because he has not yet been signed but Chairman Charles Gilmore has been in communication with him. The golfer in question has quite a reputation in central Ohio and would be able to do the club a lot of good.

"Time" Is Factor

The 1935 Pickaway-Country high school cage classic, the annual county tournament, which is to open at CAC gym, Saturday, will be run "on time" just as last year's was, according to Dr. A. D. Blackburn, tournament manager and superintendent of New Holland schools.

"Doc," as his many friends call him, is a strong advocate of the principle of doing things right. He accepted the management of the 1934 event hesitatingly when he learned New Holland's winning the previous spring track meet cost the job in his lap.

The New Holland superintendent was praised in all corners of the county last February when he directed the most successful and satisfactory tournament in history.

Dr. Blackburn is an advocate of the theory, what's right is right, and two wrongs don't make a right. He believes in doing things in a business-like way and to the best of his ability fills his assignments that way.

The CAC gym has been thoroughly sanitized this week, additional bleachers added for the comfort of the fans, the lighting system checked, backboards and baskets inspected, dressing rooms cleaned, and the crew of tournament workers have been definitely assigned to their respective duties.

Each session will start "on time," the manager advises, because he says, "I don't believe in making fans tolerate long delays when there is no necessity in it."

Hunt To Officiate
Principal, E. I. Gephart, announced today that Bill Hunt, Columbus coach of the Columbus Academy team, will officiate both games. Hunt is a favorite with fans in central Ohio and is capable of the whistle.

B. Long, Newark veteran, originally scheduled to work game but was released from contract in order to officiate Columbus Central and North teams tonight. He will work with Carlisle, Ohio Wesleyan and principal at Delaware game.

Friday evening, the fiery Jerry Garmore and his Marysville team will be here. Marysville's claim to honors this year is that it upset Grandview giving the cats their only beaten in the game. Contrary to the usual rule, the varsity game will start 7:30 with two class games to follow.

The Friday game will wind-up a regular season.

COACHES WAINED
COLUMBUS, Feb. 19—A permanent, mandatory order requiring high school coaches and principals to check the eligibility of all high school athletes before they participate in scholastic play had been approved by the board of education here today at the suggestion of School Superintendent G. Collicott.

The action followed a recent case at Cent. at High school where a basketball squad voluntarily forfeited a number of games after it was discovered that one of its players was more than 20 years old, violating the state age limit.

WATERLOO LOSES TO FRANKLIN 5

MIDDLETOWN, Feb. 19—Waterloo's amazing little Generals marked up their second loss in two years today after a crack basketball squad from Franklin high school handed them a surprise 36 to 25 drubbing last night.

Despite the loss, Waterloo still boasted an enviable record with 86 wins out of 88 games. The only other team to defeat it while it was piling up that record was Greenfield McKinney, a Class A school, which clobbered a 22 to 21 decision.

The Little Generals were handicapped in the closing minutes of the Franklin game when Wiseman, a guard, was benched because of personal fouls. The squad carries only five men on its road trips so it had to finish the tilt with four men on the floor.

PURDUE GAINS IN LOOP RACE

Defeats Indiana; Ohio Staters Stopped By Illinois, 43 to 36

CHICAGO, Feb. 19—Purdue's fast breaking basketball quintet, defending Big Ten champions, were a step closer to the 1935 title today with a decisive 44 to 38 victory over Indiana.

After trailing, 16 to 17 at the half, Purdue unleashed a brilliant scoring attack last night at Lafayette to hang up the seventh conference victory in eight starts.

Wisconsin continued in second place with a last minute 28 to 27 victory over Minnesota at Minneapolis. It was the seventh victory in nine starts for the Badgers.

Illinois advanced to a third place tie with Indiana by whipping Ohio State, 43 to 36, at Champaign, Ill.

Northwestern outscrambled the Michigan Wolverines, 26 to 16, here at Evanston. The Northwestern victory left the Wildcats and Michigan tied for eighth place with two wins and six setbacks.

Bob Kessler, Purdue forward, was the scoring star of last night's battle between the two Hoosier state rivals. He accounted for 23 points with ten baskets and three free throws. Kessler's brilliant under the basket scoring pushed the Boilermakers into the lead after the two teams had fought on even terms for ten minutes in the second half.

Wisconsin and Minnesota played ding-dong battle before 12,300 spectators that wasn't decided until Chub Poser, Wisconsin forward, shot the winning basket a long one, in the closing seconds of the game.

WRINGER CRUSHES, KILLS BOY, AGED 3

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19—Ray Dean Lloyd, 3, was dragged into an electric wringer Monday and was crushed to death. The mother was at the home of a neighbor thinking the child was in bed. He was found by a sister, 5, who heard his cries. The boy's arm was pulled into the wringer and his shoulder crushed.

to me to help. I got this job, and I'm still holding it."

Thus he modestly sums up his business career, but this writer was not anxious to close the interview with that mere statement of fact. Then "Kitty" gave a brief summary of an interesting business life and grew reminiscent of the days when he was a young clerk.

"Our firm sold men's furnishings, principally hats, and bought raw furs during season. The latter line of business was carried on extensively for many years and a special building was erected on the rear of the lot in which the pelts were stored until sold to other large dealers. And the odor would seem to stay with us from one season to the next, or so our lady customers used to tell us. In fact, I sometimes imagine I can still smell those skunk skins."

"Years ago we had just a small room for merchandise, and every morning it was my job to carry about half the stock out to the sidewalk in front of the store, and at closing time carry it back in, usually about an hour's work. I usually sold about as much merchandise on the sidewalk as I did in the store. When I saw a person stop to look at a hat, a fur blanket, or any item of merchandise we had on the sidewalk, I was right after him and stood on the job until I had sold something."

"We had the reputation of carrying only first class goods and the better grades of merchandise, and the proud reputation has been sustained all through the years. Many of the same brands we have handled for many years, much to our own satisfaction and the satisfaction of our customers."

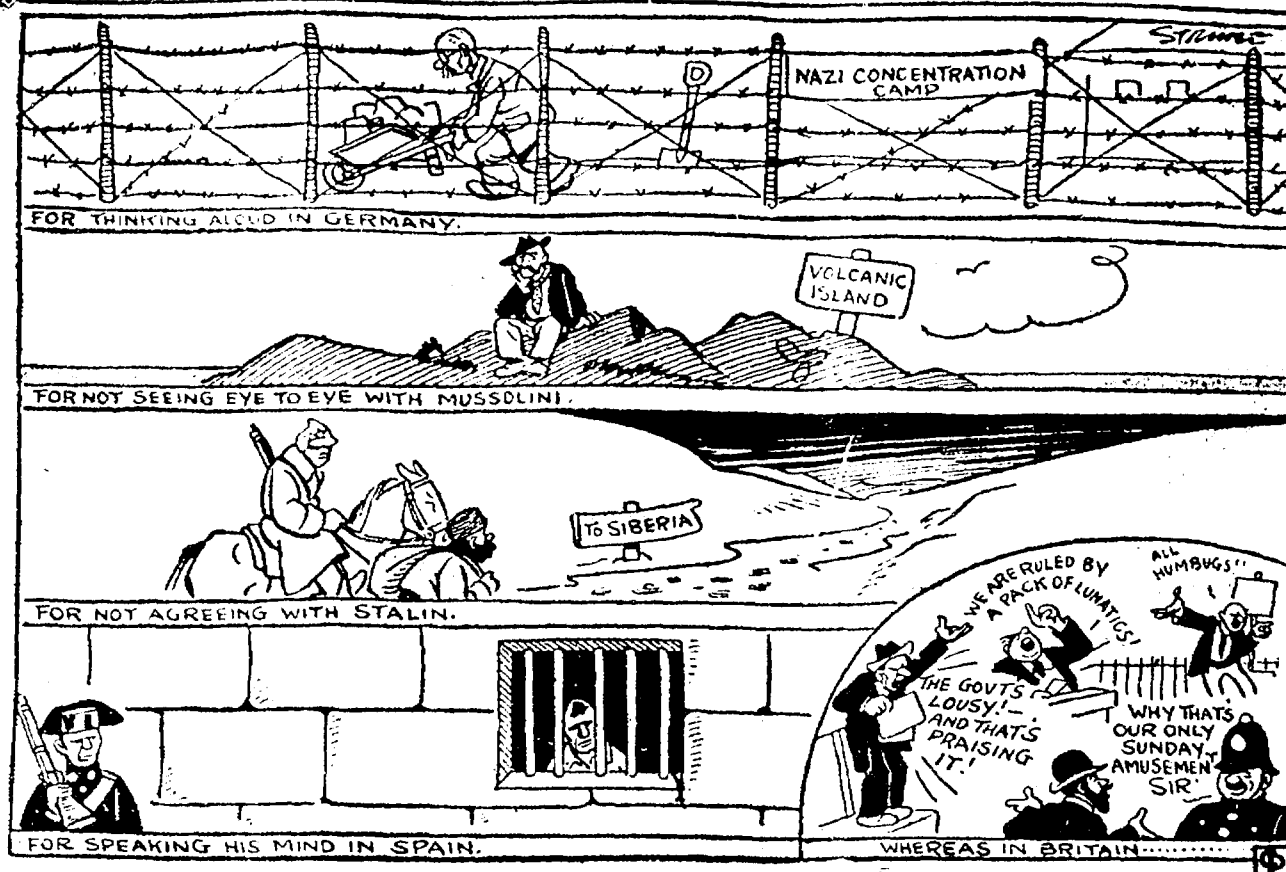

"We had artificial gas and coal oil lamps for lighting the store. We opened at 5:30 a. m. and remained open until 9 or 10 p. m., or until all the customers were out. We had many customers who only paid their accounts once a year."

"The business district has been almost entirely changed and rebuilt during the 50 years and I can recall but three firms that are still operating under the same names. There has been a big improvement in business methods, in the quality of merchandise offered by reputable concerns, and many changes made in our mode of living."

Mr. Fissell said that he had sold thousands of hats to men in all walks of life. He had one customer years ago who wore a size 7-8, and another who wore a size 6-1-1, and both had to be fitted by special order from the factory. He recalled another customer, a cripple named

"Shad" Laycock, long since dead, who required a size 8-1-2, and as a consequence never wore a hat—couldn't get one to fit him. He had many customers for silk hats, or "toppers," which sold for $5 and $6. Many of his silk hat customers are still living and probably many of the toppers are stored away in Circleville attics.

Mr. Fissell has never aspired to public office but was content to take care of his business and his home, to which he was devoted. He purchased his present home at 317 E. Mound-st. when he was 19 years of age and has lived there ever since. His parents lived with him until his marriage in August, 1900, to Miss Florence Mader. His father, George Fissell, was a Circleville rural mail carrier until he was retired from service when he reached the age limit.

Mr. Fissell has always taken a prominent part in civic affairs and has been identified with all movements for the betterment of the community. He is a member of the Lutheran church.

He has two brothers, William and Edward, who operate Fissell's cigar store, W. Main-st.; five sisters, Mrs. Lucy Crandall, St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Edith Dearn, Shadysville; Mrs. Georgia Walters and Mrs. Mary Donohue, Columbus; and Mrs. Hulda Clifton, Circleville.

He has two children, Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell, and Miss Betty Fissell, both at home.

According to Mr. Fissell, there is humor, philosophy, tragedy, adventure and romance in 50 years of business in one location.

to the administration's troubles over the huge $4,580,000,000 work relief bill. Senate inflationists were supporting the Thomas and Wheeler amendments.

The administration already has two major fights on its hands. One is organized labor's drive to compel the government to pay prevailing wage rates on all relief projects. The other is the fight by Senators Glass (D) of Virginia and Adams (D) of Colorado, to substitute continuation of direct relief for the work program with an appropriation of $2,850,000,000.

W. F. M. S.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Sheridan. The devotionals were conducted by Mrs. N. J. Ford her topic being, "The Bow in The Clouds," beautiful "Hymn of Assurance" was sung, the scripture lesson was taken from Genesis 9, 12-13-14-15 verses, "I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you and every creature of all flesh." The study chapter was reviewed by Mrs. Elhel Young; The "Mystery Box Questions" were in charge of Mrs. N. J. Ford.

At the close of the meeting the committee served refreshments consisting of jello with whipped cream, doughnuts and coffee to the six members and three visitors that were present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Carmean and nephew Eugene Johnson of Chillicothe, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roby.

Misses Ruth Jeanette Rittenour and Louise McFarland, Messrs Tom and Walter Denny and Robert Rittenour students at Wesleyan university, Delaware, motored to Kingston Thursday evening and attended the plays that were presented by the public speaking class at the Kingston high school auditorium.

The Ladies' Guild of the Presbyterian church will serve their annual chicken supper Wednesday evening, February 20, at the church. Serving will begin at 5:30 o'clock.

Miss Mary Harpster left on Tuesday to visit a few days with her sister, Mrs. George Gill and husband at Stoutsville.

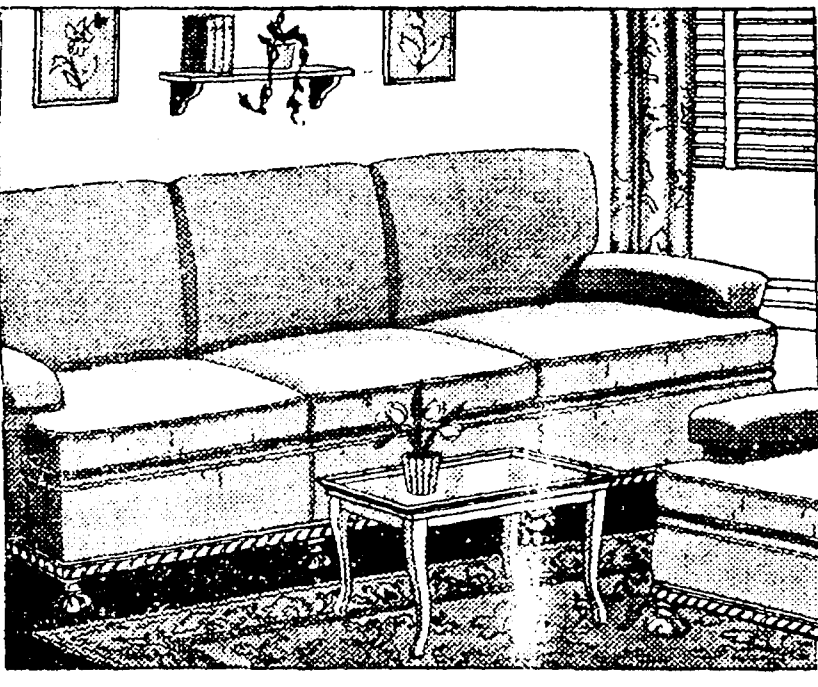

Reflected Sunlight

Reflected sunlight is light from the sun reflected by other bodies, as, for instance, the light of the moon and of the planets. The law of reflection was expressed as early as the Second century by Hero of Alexandria. Euclid is said to have deduced it.
